About the Conference

The National Online Conference on “Socio-Geographical Dimensions of Gender Inequality in India: Challenges and Prospects” aims to provide a multidisciplinary platform to examine the social, economic, cultural, demographic and spatial dimensions of gender inequality in India. It will focus on regional variations in sex ratio, literacy, education, employment, health, women’s participation in agriculture and politics, access to resources, gender-based violence and safety in rural and urban spaces. Emerging issues such as digital inclusion, climate change, migration, urbanization, changing labour markets and access to technology will also be discussed from a gender perspective. The conference seeks to promote interdisciplinary dialogue, share research findings and develop evidence-based strategies for women’s empowerment, gender justice and inclusive development.

About the Institute

Government Vidarbha Institute of Science and Humanities (Autonomous), Amravati, established in 1923, is one of the oldest and reputed higher education institutions in the Vidarbha region of Maharashtra. The Institute is committed to quality education, research and holistic student development. It offers education from Higher Secondary to Ph.D. level, with 21 undergraduate subjects, 19 postgraduate subjects and Ph.D. research in 20 subjects. The Institute is accredited with ‘A’ Grade by NAAC with a CGPA of 3.51 and has a 168-acre campus with well-developed academic, research, sports and student-support facilities. With a rich legacy of more than a century, the Institute continues to serve as a centre of knowledge, excellence and innovation

About the Department

The Department of Geography, established in 1948, is one of the oldest Geography departments in the Vidarbha region. It has made significant contributions to Geography education, research and academic development in Maharashtra and India. Prof. B. K. Bidwai, a renowned geographer, was the first Head of the Department, followed by distinguished academicians including Prof. B. G. Tamaskar, Prof. Shitanshu Mukerjee, Dr. S. S. Padhye and Dr. B. C. Changole. The Department actively promotes research in various areas of Human and Physical Geography and is supported by research facilities and rich library resources. So far, it has produced 32 Ph.D. scholars and 75 M.Phil. scholars, while 35 students have qualified SET/NET examinations
